

ABSTRACT

A method of effecting a live extraction/insertion of a board, without using a centralized 5 controller, by empowering the remaining boards with communications capabilities independent of the communications normally controlled by the centralized controller.